DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. Claims 12-17, 19, and 21 stand rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6,296,733 issued to Hudkins et al. in view of US 6,787,593 issued to Bell et al. for the reasons of record.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant has not amended the claims in an attempt to overcome the prior art rejections. Rather, applicant merely traverses said rejections by relying upon the Declaration submitted with said amendment. [Note said declaration is stated to be filed under 37 CFR 1.131, but is really a declaration under 37 CFR 1.132.]
4. Said declaration asserts that the highly filled metallocene ethylene-octene copolymers of Bell having a melt index of 1-10 could not be used in forming the throw-in mat having a rubber-like feel as presently claimed (Declaration, page 2, section 4). Specifically, said declaration asserts said copolymer does not have the flow properties essential to form complete nibs that do not break easily during use (Declaration, page 2, section 4).
5. In response, it is first noted that said declaration is not commensurate in scope with the claims in that the claims do not require completely formed nibs that do not break easily during use. Secondly, said claims do not exclude the presence of a filler. In fact, said claims include the presence of highly filled copolymers. If the absence of, or even a specified amount of, filler is required to produce the claimed invention, then said claims are incomplete and possibly indefinite or non-enabled. Thirdly, said declaration is merely an opinion declaration by the present inventors. In assessing the probative value of an expert opinion, the examiner must consider the nature of the matter sought to be established, the strength of any opposing evidence, the interest of the expert in the outcome of the case, and the presence or absence of factual support for the expert's opinion. Ashland Oil, Inc. v. Delta Resins & Refractories, Inc., 227 USPQ 657. Therefore, applicant's arguments are found unpersuasive and the above rejection stands.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
